Rips U.S. For Resuming Tests

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev said today he was ready for "businesslike talks" with President Kennedy on urgent world problems.

At a friendship meeting for Indian Prime Minister Nehru he went on to denounce President Kennedy's decision to resume nuclear testing, and declared "mankind is on the brink of another military tragedy."

"Aggressive forces want to plunge the world into another war," he said, "as a pretext for the peace treaty with Germany. Our aim is to put out the reining fires of war by concluding a peace treaty with Germany. All sober-thinking people realize that on the question of the peace treaty one must proceed from the fact of existence of two German states."

He warned that the Soviet Union "has enough strength to give a destructive blow to any aggressor."

Khrushchev said that the most vital item to be taken up was the conclusion of a German peace treaty.

He warned President Kennedy not to use negotiations to delay signing a treaty and again said: "If the Western powers do not sign, the treaty will be signed between the German Democratic Republic and such other states as wish to do so."

Khrushchev said that "if the Western powers are ready for businesslike talks" on the German problem, "the Soviet government welcomes talks which would result in the conclusion of a peace treaty."

"It is impossible," he asserted "to postpone the German settlement any longer."

"The peoples will not forgive us for any more postponements," Speaking earlier at the meeting in the Kremlin, Nehru called "on the great powers who hold the key to war and peace to remove the threat of war and lead the world to peace."

Nehru, on a three-day official visit to the Soviet Union, came from the conference of nonaligned nations in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, which urged talks between the U.S.S.R. and the United States.

The conference, Nehru said, "expressed the minds of hundreds of millions of people. Every effort must be made to settle these problems. Only talks can lead to fruitful results."

"Today we face the last possibility. A wrong step could wipe out the future for mankind."

Nehru said that if the danger of war could be removed in talks between the two major powers, "the way would be opened toward examining the problem of disarmament."

"We call for the discontinuation of nuclear tests. Whatever the military considerations for these tests, they increase the danger of mankind."

Nehru spoke for only 16 minutes before yielding the platform to Khrushchev.

Khrushchev then made the first public reference in the Soviet Union to the four recent nuclear weapon tests which the United States has reported made in central Asia. The tests breached the East-West moratorium on such experiments.

"Military preparations in the West have been stepped up," he said. "Taking this into account we could not ignore the interests of the security of our country and the Socialist camp."

"The Soviet Union had to defer demobilization and to increase military expenditure. Because of direct threats we had to face the necessity to carry out nuclear tests."

On resuming atom tests, Khrushchev said President Kennedy "acted without waiting for a reply from the Soviet Union"—presumably meaning a reply to the joint British-American appeal to the Soviet Union to stop nuclear tests in the atmosphere.

Khrushchev did not spell this out, however.

RESCUED FROM NINTH FLOOR — A woman clings to a makeshift rope and balances precariously on the ninth floor sill of a Kansas City apartment house as a fireman climbs a fire truck ladder to rescue her. The ladder when extended just reached the woman, Mrs. Jacqueline Jones, 19. Police said Mrs. Jones locked herself in a bedroom after an argument with her husband and made the rope. They said her husband forced his way into the room and found her supported by the sill and rope a floor below.

Charter Group's Vote Is 6 to 5

Four-Year Mayor Term Reaffirmed

Members of the Salem Charter Commission who have been fighting for provisions which would give additional authority and responsibility to the mayor under a proposed charter form of government, last night successfully turned back determined bids from those members who want to limit the powers of the city's chief executive.

Commission member James Aldom, an outspoken advocate of increasing the mayor's term to four years, charged those members backing a two-year term with "trying to knock out the only real selling point left in the charter."

After several heated exchanges in which Aldom accused some of the members of "playing politics," an amendment to the proposed charter to make the mayor's term two years was voted down by a slim margin of 6 to 5.

Thus, the Commission held to its previous decision that the mayor's term shall be set at four years in the charter which is to be presented to the public for consideration at the Nov. 7 general election.

Under the present form of government here, the mayor's term is two years.

In fighting for the four-year term, Aldom said it is necessary to increase the length of the term if there is going to be any long-range planning. "Long-range planning is impossible if the mayor has to take time out to campaign for re-election every two years," Aldom remarked.

Also speaking in favor of a four-year term for mayor were Ford Joseph, Jr., Mayor Dean Cranmer, Guy Mauro, John Herman, Jr., and Norman Eckfeld.

Against 4-Year Term

Those voting for a two-year term were Harold Astry, Jack Rance, John Taylor, Mrs. Eve Farrington and Commission Chairman Lozier Caplan.

One of the arguments for the two-year term was that four years is too long to have to wait to make a mayor answerable to the public at an election. "If a mayor has a good record, he will be re-elected after two years," Caplan said.

At least two members who voted last night for a two-year term, Mrs. Farrington and Taylor, said they actually would prefer that the mayor be given a four-year term. But, they said they voted for the shorter term because they thought this is what the public wants.

Rance and Caplan also said that most of the persons they have talked to voiced a strong preference for a two-year term for mayor. They said they believed the proposed charter could be turned down by the public on this issue alone.

To this Aldom retorted, "You

McElroy Says FBI Fails To Cooperate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy says the FBI, in investigating interstate law violations in Ohio, in some cases has been "somewhat reticent about alerting local officials about intrastate violations."

Asked for any specific instance of this, McElroy said that in one case about two years ago the FBI was requested to supply information about crime activities in Stark County, Ohio, and "they said they couldn't help us."

McElroy made the statement to newsmen Thursday after conferring with U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy about the possibility of closer liaison between federal and state officials in fighting organized crime in Ohio.

McElroy said Kennedy indicated

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Norman J. Putman prosecuting attorney for Stark County, took exception today to a statement by Atty. Gen. Mark McElroy that the FBI dragged its feet in cooperating with local authorities.

Putman said in a telegram to Director J. Edgar Hoover of the FBI that "in the eight years I have worked with police, the FBI has always 'gone the extra mile' with local officials in any investigation."

McElroy, asked for a specific instance of non-cooperation, said in Washington after a conference with U.S. Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy Thursday that the FBI was asked two years ago to supply information about crime activities in Stark County.

Fallout Cloud Nearing U.S.

Will Cross Part of Nation by Weekend

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government fallout expert said today the cloud of radioactive debris from the first of four recent Soviet nuclear tests is expected to cross the northern United States by this weekend.

Dr. Lester Machta of the U.S. Weather Bureau said he could not estimate when debris from the three later tests would reach this country. But that debris, together with some more from the first test, may pass over the entire country, he said.

Machta said some fallout will reach the earth wherever the radioactive cloud passes over—and will continue to as the cloud keeps circling the earth.

But he offered a qualified view that the amount of fallout deposited on the United States would be no greater from the first four Soviet tests "than it has been from any of our own test series in Nevada in the past."

He said this estimate is based on a hopeful assumption that none of the four devices exceeded 50,000 tons of TNT equivalent in explosive yield. He pointed out that the Atomic Energy Commission has given no specific figures on the estimated yields of the Soviet tests.

Machta, one of the nation's foremost researchers on fallout distribution, made the comments in explaining a map he prepared projecting the course of the fallout cloud from the first test last Friday.

The map traces the path of the cloud from west to east through a high level of the troposphere—the part of the atmosphere from the surface of the earth to about 50,000 feet.

Machta chose the 30,000 to 40,000 foot level because it has the strongest winds.

He said the cloud passed in a generally easterly direction from the central Asian detonation site—spanning the Asian mainland, then crossing the Bering Sea.

It crossed all of Alaska Monday and Tuesday and at the same time went over Western Canada.

Machta estimated that by Thursday, the cloud passed over Montana, Washington, Idaho and northern Nevada and the southern part of Canada.

Thereafter, he forecasts, it will move east over at least the northern half of the United States. By Sunday, it should begin passing over the Atlantic toward Europe.

Hands Off Corridors, Kremlin Told

Allies Warn Anew On Berlin Flights

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France today gave the Soviet Union a new warning "in the most solemn terms" against any interference with Allied flights in the air corridors between West Germany and West Berlin.

The Western powers told the Kremlin any change in the air transport situation "will be the result of aggressive action against established rights by the Soviet government and the East German regime."

The Allied notes were delivered in Moscow this morning. They rejected the Soviet contention that the United States, Britain and France do not have unrestricted right of air transport in and out of West Berlin.

The notes, about 1,500 words long, were described as identical. "Rights with respect to air access to Berlin," the Soviet Union was told, "derive from precisely the same source as do the rights of the U.S.S.R. in East German and East Berlin; namely, the joint military defeat of the German Reich and the joint assumption of supreme authority over Germany."

"These rights are confirmed by the circumstances under which the four powers entered Germany, by their subsequent discussions and agreements, and by open and established practice over a period of 15 years."

The form of the dispute as developed in a series of exchanges between Moscow and the Western capitals in recent weeks is legalistic. But U.S. officials fear that it foreshadows future Communist moves to try to impose limits on use of the Berlin air corridors.

Washington officials say the Western powers are fully determined not to permit any interference with the Berlin air traffic even if the Soviet Union makes a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Basic U.S. policy was laid down in a White House statement Aug. 24 responding to an earlier Soviet attack on Western use of the flight lanes.

The White House declared that any interference with Allied access to West Berlin would be considered an act of aggression.

Kenmar Strike Ended On Contract Extension

EAST PALESTINE — Production schedules were resumed at the strike-bound Kenmar Furniture Manufacturing Co. today following ratification Thursday night of a six-month extension of the existing work contract.

The contract between Local 14710, United Mine Workers, and the company had expired Aug. 15. The employees went on strike when management asked the workers to accept a wage cut and reduce some of their fringe benefits in a new contract.

Robert Maurer, president of Kenmar, explained at the time that competition from furniture plants in the South was threatening local operations unless production costs could be reduced.

About 40 production workers returned to their jobs this morning in the cutting, receiving and wood shops. Full production is expected by next Wednesday.

Carla Roars Toward U.S.

500 Miles of Coast Placed on Alert

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)— Five hundred miles of U.S. coast line was placed under hurricane watch today as a massive storm moved on a northwesterly path through the Gulf of Mexico.

The warning to "get ready" for fierce winds and destructive tides from big and growing Hurricane Carla was extended to include the entire Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama coasts and eastward to Apalachicola, Fla.

Hurricane warnings were expected to be issued later today for some portion of the four-state coastal area and all residents were advised to be ready to take necessary precautions when warnings go up.

At 5 a.m. Eastern Standard Time, Carla was centered near latitude 25.3 north and longitude 88.0 west or about 500 miles south of Mobile, Ala.

Highest winds were estimated at about 110 miles per hour near the center and Carla was moving between northwest and north-northwest at 10 miles per hour. "Winds will gradually increase along the northern Gulf Coast and will reach gale force in a few squalls tonight," the Weather Bureau said.

The weather map was smudged with two other storms—Hurricane Betsy, spinning north in the Atlantic 700 miles southeast of Cape Cod, Mass., and Tropical Storm Debbie, 650 miles west of the Cape Verde islands off the West African Coast.

Betsy offered no threat to the U.S. mainland and Debbie was too far away to be scouted by reconnaissance aircraft.

But Carla was an immediate threat to offshore oil operations in the Gulf of Mexico and to cities and towns on the coast.

Just where it would move inland was still a guess, but forecasters said Carla would continue moving between northwest and north-northwest for the next 12 to 18 hours.

Carla smashed into Cuba's western Pinar del Rio Province Thursday flattening 70 buildings and injuring 10 persons. Flood waters spread over a wide area and winds and water caused extensive crop damage as the storm moved out of the Caribbean Sea where it was spawned last Sunday and swept into the Gulf of Mexico.

Record Vote Turnout In New York

DeSapio Grip Torn By Wagner Victory

NEW YORK (AP)—A smashing victory by Mayor Robert F. Wagner on an "anti-bossism" platform today wrecked the city's old line Democratic organization, led by Tammany Hall Chief Carmine G. DeSapio.

Wagner, backed by insurgents, defeated the organization candidate, State Comptroller Arthur Levitt, in a record outpouring of voters for a Democratic primary. The final vote was 451,458 to 291,672. The total vote of 743,130 bettered the previous Democratic primary mark of 718,000 set in 1937.

Wagner will face State Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, unopposed for the Republican nomination, in the Nov. 7 general election.

Other insurgents won sufficient district leadership fights to have a good chance of control of Tammany, the Manhattan Democratic organization.

To top it off, DeSapio lost his own district leadership in Greenwich Village to James S. Lanigan, a Harvard-educated lawyer.

That in itself sent DeSapio into political eclipse because the New York County, or Tammany, leader is chosen only from among district leaders.

Wagner had the support of all the organization leaders in winning the mayoralty in 1953 and 1957, but split with them this year in favor of the insurgents.

Wagner also broke with City Council President Abe Stark and chose Deputy Mayor Paul R. Screvane as his running mate for that post; Screvane and Budget Director Abraham Beame, Wagner's choice for comptroller, also won nomination.

Stark sought the Democratic nomination for Brooklyn borough president and won easily. Lawrence E. Gerosa, the present city comptroller whom Wagner also dropped, is running for mayor in November as an independent Democrat.

The insurgent forces backing Wagner were headed by former Sen. Herbert H. Lehman and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Lanigan, a former Nebraska closely associated politically with Adlai E. Stevenson, ambassador to the United Nations and former Democratic presidential candidate, emerged as a new figure on the political horizon in defeating DeSapio.

He is expected to make a bid for the Manhattan leadership of the party.

DeSapio, a veteran political professional, appeared philosophical about his defeat.

He said the Democratic voters had made their decision "and, in the final analysis, they are the real bosses, and there is no alternative but to abide by their decision."

Early Schools In Salem Were Privately Operated

By JAMES MURPHY

Resumption of public school classes here this week brought to mind that private schools and seminaries were once the rule in Salem, before the Union school system came into being in 1853.

Salem's pioneer school was operated by the early Quakers in the old Second Street meeting-house. The first actual school house was a small log cabin near the present-day Macmillan Book Store on State St. James Tolerton and Joseph Shreve were two of the instructors who taught the three R's.

HOWEVER, MOST of the early schools were private affairs, such as the one on West Pershing (then called Dry Street) run by James and Henrietta Marshall during the 1840's. This "select school for young ladies" boasted of its large library of 150 volumes. This school was in a frame building that once stood behind the Capel Realty office on South Ellsworth.

Then there was Coon's Academy, popular during the 1840's, the building still standing on the east side of Penn Ave., the second house south of the corner of Columbia. The Rev. Jacob Coon came to Salem in 1844, building the two-story frame Academy behind his Lincoln Ave. home. Latin was first taught in Salem by Rev. Coon. This area eventually became known as Science Hill because of his school.

Another early subscription school was Adam Kirk's. His rates were $3-56 per quarter, with board at $1.25 a week. On the side Kirk delivered science lectures on Wednesday of each week. He also sponsored the Total Abstinence Society, which met at his school house.

SO FAR AS IS KNOWN the first man to teach languages in Salem was Monsieur Erson, a Frenchman arriving in 1850. Besides French, Italian and German he gave instruction in drawing, drafting and painting.

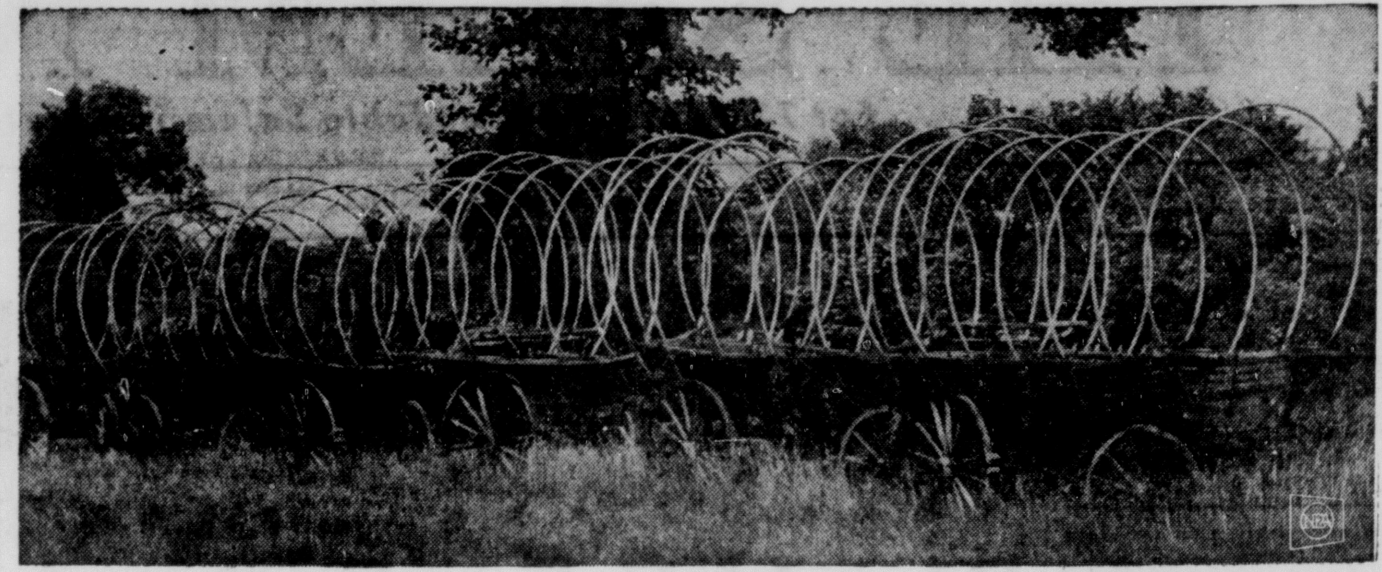

These private schools gradually dwindled after the city began operating its public school system. The first public school was on Chestnut Street, and is now part of the Central Clinic building.

In 1859 there was much debate about where to erect the new public school. The townspeople voted to build on Hawley's lot, where the present Junior High is, rather than on Zadok Street's property.

Then it was discovered that the Hawley site was too small for a playground, and another election was held. The Street site was again voted down, this time in favor of the Waterworth place on Fourth Street. It was here that the building was finally put up, only to be condemned less than 40 years later in 1897 when the then new Fourth Street school was built.

This building served as the high school until the Lincoln Avenue school came into being in 1917, on the same site that had once been approved for the old school on Fourth Street.

Salem's new Senior High School, built at a cost of two and a half million dollars, opened its doors in 1958 and the high school building on N. Lincoln became the junior high.

Ministers In Lisbon Elect Rev. Brown

LISBON — Rev. William L. Brown, pastor of the Methodist Church, was elected president of the Lisbon Ministerial Association when the group met Wednesday at the Methodist Church.

Rev. William Spangler of the First Christian Church was re-elected vice president, and Rev. C. O. Armstrong of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church was elected secretary-treasurer succeeding Rev. Brown.

Rev. Russell Long, new pastor of the Church of the Nazarene, was welcomed into the organization.

The Union Thanksgiving Service was scheduled for Wednesday, Nov. 22 at 7:30 p.m. in the First Christian Church, with Rev. Long presiding.

The annual week-long week of prayer series in January was discontinued. However, Rev. Dr. George Parkinson of the First United Presbyterian Church of Canton will speak at union service Monday, Jan. 1.

Churches represented in the association are First Presbyterian, Methodist, First Christian, St. Jacob's United Church of Christ, Trinity United Presbyterian, Nazarene, Episcopal and Leaver Larger Parish, composed of Bethesda, New Lebanon and Madison churches, south of Lisbon.

Common Pleas Court Backlog Increases

LISBON — Columbiana County's two common pleas courts gained 29 cases during August, according to the report of Clerk of Courts Carl L. Stacey to the administrator assistant to the State Supreme Court.

The two courts had 856 cases pending Aug. 1 and 80 new cases were filed, making a total of 936. During the month they disposed of 51 cases, leaving 885 beginning Sep. 1.

Of the 51 cases disposed of, 13 were tried by the courts, 13 were cognovit and default judgments and 25 were dismissed or settled.

The Court of appeals cases remained the same with seven pending.

Denture Problems

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—"Some sat, some stood, some slowly strayed," said the man as he walked along. The words were like whistles.

He shook his head despairingly. He thrust two fists full of fingers into his mouth and tugged. Then he again said in that half-loud voice people use when talking to themselves:

"Some sat, some stood, some slowly strayed. Some sat, some stood, some slowly strayed."

A few passers-by edged away from the stranger nervously. But not me. I fell into step beside him as he muttered once more in his whistling monotone, "Some sat, some stood, some slowly strayed."

"You had 'em long?" I asked. For a split second he looked at me in startled wonder, then replied: "Four days."

"They still hurt much?" I asked.

"Something awful."

"I've had mine almost four years," I volunteered.

"Yours still hurt much?" he inquired.

"Only when I eat too much corn on the cob," I told him.

"Corn on the cob?" he shuddered visibly. "I wouldn't dare try."

"You will," I assured him. "In time you will. You'll know you've got 'em whipped when you can sit down, eat corn on the cob, sirloin steak and a raw apple—and get up laughing."

He looked at me in hopeless envy.

"I'll never be able to do that," he sighed.

"You will," I assured him again. "It's all just a matter of time—and a fighting spirit."

"Can you say Mississippi?" he asked.

"Certainly," I replied. "Mississippi, Mississippi, Mississippi."

He looked at me in hopeless envy and admiration.

"Now you try it," I urged, as we paused for a traffic light.

"I'm afraid it."

"Aw, go ahead."

He took a deep breath and then said more loudly than he intended, "Mississippi!"

Three nearby women turned and glared at him indignantly.

"You see," he said, "They think I'm whistling at them. 'That letter 'S' throws me every time. I'll never whip it.'"

"Of course you will," I said. Why don't you practice first on South Dakota, work your way up to Kansas, then go on to Mississippi?"

"Thanks," he said. We shook hands and he left, muttering, "South Dakota, some sat, some stood, some slowly strayed."

Feeling rather proud of myself I said out loud and clear, "Mississippi!" Then something in my mouth slipped and the third time it came out whistling.

A middle-aged lady passing by turned at the sound, smiled tentatively, and then as she brushed

Police Probed 29 Mishaps In August

Police Chief Martin Lutsch's August report reveals that his department investigated 29 auto accidents in which a total of 21 persons was injured.

There were 21 two-car accidents with a total of eight injuries; three three-car mishaps which injured 11; four auto-fixed object accidents with one injury; and one car-bicycle collision that injured one person.

Police made 72 arrests during the month. These included the following:

Drunkness, 7; disorderly conduct, 2; driving while intoxicated, 3; violation of road and driving laws, 51; violation of traffic and motor vehicle laws, 2; larceny, 5; except auto, 2; and others, 5.

A total of 1,123 traffic tickets was issued during the month. There were 19 calls to pick up dead animals and three reports of dog bites.

The department received 1,177 telephone calls of which 474 needed further attention. There were also 1,243 radio transmissions recorded.

Reported to the FBI were eight cases of petit larceny and four cases of grand larceny. Two persons were apprehended in the petit larceny cases.

Congregation Plans Homecoming

Bethesda Church To Mark 141st Anniversary Sept. 17

The Bethesda Presbyterian Church in Franklin Township will hold its 26th annual homecoming Sept. 17.

The homecoming will mark the 141st anniversary of one of the oldest congregations in Columbiana county.

The church is perched atop a hill, and to the front and west of the building is located the burial ground. The first burial was recorded in 1819 and is marked with a bronze tablet dedicated to Daniel McKarns, the great great-grandfather of many of the present church members.

The oldest church member is Mrs. Nora Cox, 91, of Kensington who still attends service almost every Sunday. She joined the church in 1895.

Dr. H. J. Pelley of Hanoverton, who will be 95 next January, served as church elder for many years. He was ordained and installed into the office of ruling elder in April 1897. He resigned when he moved to Hanoverton. He was a charter member of the Young People's Society of Senior Christian Endeavor organized in 1894 during the pastorate of Rev. J. F. Kirkbride. The other charter member still living, is Mrs. Flora Ella Fife Roller of Indiana who joined in 1883.

Beware of the Fallout

If we were laboratory mice at Oak Ridge, resumption of nuclear testing wouldn't bother us. We'd be cheering President Kennedy's decision to keep abreast of the Russians.

A geneticist working for the Atomic Energy Commission says we can't be mutated nearly as much as the AEC previously had estimated we can be. His name is William L. Russell, and opinions like his are the stuff of red-hot human controversy.

They are part of the fallout in a propaganda explosion that has us groggy. We don't feel like cheering.

Right now, of course, the presence of radioactive particles in the air after nuclear explosions is spoken of officially as almost a blessing because the United States itself is going to resume nuclear testing.

For the last few days, however, radioactive particles from resumption of Russian testing had been anything but an official blessing, because the U.S. government was leading a worldwide shriek of indignation about it. This sort of thing needs to be understood for what it is—propaganda.

FALLOUT in the propaganda war is more dangerous at this moment than fallout from nuclear testing is likely to be.

The Soviet Union resumed nuclear testing, it said, because it knew the United States was getting ready to resume nuclear testing. This, of course, was denied.

The United States actually was getting ready to resume nuclear testing, though, because it now says it will be ready to run the first tests before the end of this month in laboratories and underground tunnels, which take years to prepare.

Sooner or later, either the United States or the Soviet Union would resume nuclear testing; that was certain. The Soviet Union, which may never have stopped underground testing, finally made the break on above-ground testing, to the relief of all interested parties in the United States.

The lid is off. Russia, which refused to ban testing, then led the squawk against it in the last decade, now is testing again at a stepped-up pace.

Everybody can start atomic testing now. The French can blast off. So can the Israelis. And the Red Chinese. One day, the clever Japanese will make the biggest bang for the least money. The West Germans will get into the act by virtue of their reputation as the world's most ingenious designers. Italy will have a nuclear bomb. Some of the new countries in Africa will figure out a way to get one.

NUCLEAR BLASTING will become so popular that even the British will get back into the swim. And by that time it won't even be safe for a mouse at Oak Ridge under the care of geneticist Russell, who says radioactive mutations aren't as serious as they first were believed to be.

A ban on nuclear blasting then would be as meaningful as a ban on polluting public waterways—and as hard to enforce. But at this instant in history, no one is ready for even the pretense of a ban. There is too much yet to be known about nuclear fission and fusion.

There is, moreover, the unknowable condition of all the nuclear weapons already in existence—whether or not they would go off with the cataclysmic bang built into them. When World War II began, torpedoes that had been in cold storage were sent to sea for submarine warfare and hundreds had lost their bang when it was time to fire them.

THE UNITED STATES hardly could wait for the Soviet Union to resume nuclear testing. It was itching to do the same thing. What triggered the Russian decision is unknown, but the United States is thankful for it.

Naturally, the worriers, pacifists, Cloud-Niners and Communist sympathizers deplore the resumption by this country, and it's going to be hard on generations of unborn mice. But the mice won't know about it, unless it kills them, and then they won't know what killed them, which puts them 2 up on the human race.

Not only could all of us be killed, but we could die a thousand deaths while waiting for the fallout from both nuclear and propaganda blasting. One's as bad as the other.

The nuclear fallout can cause mutations of the body and the propaganda fallout can cause mutations of the intellect. And of the two, mutations of the intellect may do us in first.

Everybody's Doing It Now!

You noticed it, too, last weekend—Headlights burning on passenger cars in daylight.

Why? Because an announcement that professional drivers who handle trucks and buses were going to keep the headlights burning on their big vehicles had struck popular fancy. Amateur motorists had swiped the idea.

You probably noticed something else about the holiday weekend.

That Flu Bug Again?

As if we weren't troubled enough about possible radiation fallout from Soviet Russia's four consecutive nuclear blasts, the U.S. Public Health Service warns city and county health commissioners about impending influenza outbreaks.

Type B and Asian Flu, strains that reappear in cycles several years apart, are likely to hit the country in the next few months.

Let's hope that we have absorbed enough sunshine during the enjoyable summer months to build up an immunity. The fortunate folks can move to Florida but the rest of us will probably just roll up our sleeves and say, "Go ahead, Doc. Shoot!"

Once Over

In getting back to real work, it is hard to shake off summer's habits. For the first few days after Labor Day anybody ordered by the boss to "snap into it" is apt to ask, "Is the tide right?" or say, "Quiet, or you'll scare the fish away."

A clerk asked to catch up with back work can inquire, "What's the best bait for that?" The stenog, asked, "Will you take a letter please?" may excusably inquire, "Can't we play tennis first?"

The top boss will himself be slow tackling important problems for a couple of weeks because he still feels a yen to spend day on a raft. Chairman of the board, reminded by wife, "You have an important meeting today," will exclaim, "What! No barbecue or regatta?"

Company vice presidents will require at least 10 days more before they can remember to put on their business clothes instead of a pair of bathing trunks. Some will get half way to the office in a taxi before realizing their error.

Office conferences will for some days need extra electric fans, some white sea sand on the floor and a seagull or two near for atmosphere. (We know of one conference to which a couple of men are bringing clam-bakes crabnets and fishing rods through mere habit.)

There is a system, however, to make the switch from summer to autumn routines easier:

1. Strip to waist before entering the council chamber.
2. Put some plaster on nose for old time's sake.
3. Carry a can of worms, an oar, a can of beer and some outboard motor gas. In

The fatality toll for highway traffic was down. A National Safety Council estimate of 420 deaths in 1961, compared with 358 last year, proved too high. Safe driving was responsible for the good news, because drowning and miscellaneous causes of death were coming up to the Safety Council's gloomiest expectations.

This might be the way to rub out the bad reputation of holidays for causing traffic accidents—by making a popular fad of safe driving.

A slogan might help: Light the Way to Safety!

The whole country might pitch in to make holiday weekends the safest time to be on the highways of America, a triumph within easy statistical reach.

Football Returns

The recent hot, humid weather has given no indication of the opening of the scholastic football season this weekend.

Nevertheless, most Salem High School fans will be at Reilly Stadium tonight for the first game with Struthers and the annual crowning of the Football Queen is expected to swell the crowd.

Yes, it's football again. Another year has rolled past all too quickly.

GOVERNMENT ANNOUNCES that all records for beer production and drinking were busted last year. Some 93½ million barrels were turned out, with per capita consumption of around 15 gallons a person. Can you remember away back when brewery was a little place in the outskirts, past which parents dragged their moppets swiftly; when beer in bottles was delivered furtively at back door and when folks thought they were being "partyish" when they "rushed the can" and had a couple of glasses of beer on porch in the darkness of an extra hot night?

Washington will no longer "okay" "juicy smoked hams" if hams are heavily juiced through injection of water. It has prohibited it in interstate ham production circles, but if ham is sold in state where it is produced, the heavy watering will continue legal. We're glad the egg situation isn't similarly involved. It would be pretty troublesome ordering ham and eggs if we wanted to be sure whether a government ruling was involved or not.

A woman who embezzled 2 million from a bank is fighting income tax on the money claiming the money was not hers and could not be construed as personal income. This looks like most novel tax dodge yet devised. Contention is that if you get money by work, honest effort and sweat of brow, it is taxable by Uncle Sam, but if you steal it, you needn't worry. We wonder if this woman can claim depreciation of looting abilities and also insist on deductions for entertainment enjoyed by having fun on other people's money.

You Bluffed -- We Bluffed to Call Your Bluff -- So...

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

Adlai Stevenson has himself a battalion of new opponents. He ought not to take them lightly. They are influential—for they are national labor leaders. They would like to drive him from the inner circles of the White House and end his advisory relationship with John Kennedy.

Victor Riesel or have him named Ambassador to the Faroe Islands where the fog is always thickest.

They blame him and the new young men in his coterie for weakening their influence with the White House on international matters.

For the moment, these national union chiefs are angry older men because Ambassador Stevenson vetoed the appointment of a labor chief to the United Nations delegation to the make-or-break General Assembly session opening soon.

Word is that President Kennedy flatly promised AFL-CIO President George Meany that he would appoint him to the U.N.

WHEN STEVENSON heard of this, the ambassador told Mr. Kennedy that he did not want Meany. It is fact that there are highly placed labor leaders who believe that Stevenson sought Walter Reuther.

However, I cannot corroborate this first hand. But it is fact that Stevenson told the President that he desired professionals in the diplomatic field.

And it is fact that John Kennedy, feeling he could not override his own ambassador, later explained his failure to name Meany by saying: "What can I do with Stevenson, he kept insisting he wanted technicians."

What angers the union men is the absence of a labor leader on the U.N. delegation appointed by a Democratic president they helped elect.

They are saying quite bitterly they did better with Dwight Eisenhower on this front.

Under the Republicans Mr. Meany served twice at the U.N., and AFL-CIO Vice President George Harrison of the railway clerks, had one such term. And they don't say this gently either.

Nor does this antagonism to Stevenson end at the U.N. Deep in labor's sanctums, it is being said that the "Adlai bloc" has embarrassed the U.S. in Latin America.

THEY STILL BLAME Mr. Stevenson for rushing to Washington and preventing that second U.S. air strike against Castro's airports and army "that night" just as the Fidelista militia were beginning to desert to the invaders.

And they exorcise the "Adlai bloc" for some unreported events which occurred at the inter-American conference at Punta del Este, Uruguay.

First the labor men say that the Stevenson group fought the appointment of labor members to the Alliance for Progress delegation. Then they blame his group for the White House policy which kept the U.S. delegation sitting quietly during three days of insults to Mr. Kennedy and our country.

At one point, for example, Cuban sharp-tongued hatchet man "Che" Guevara virtually called Mr. Kennedy a crook.

This came when "Che" used the snide Spanish phrase "A confesion de parte, releva de prueba," while referring to JFK. This means "when a crime is being confessed, there is no need to present evidence."

THE U.S. LABOR MEN, who have been working with the Latinos for years, were aghast. They know that this is the type of insult to a President and land which no Latin American would tolerate.

All eyes turned to the U.S. delegation. Everybody expected a walkout or retort. But it was obvious that our delegation was not going to irritate the Cubans. The Latinos felt we had deserted honor and had lost face.

Later, when the final declaration was being wrought, the leader of the Peruvian delegation proposed a simple expression of loyalty to the system of free and regular elections. He wanted this as a condition for membership in the Alliance for Progress.

The Cubans, backed by the Brazilians, objected. The U.S. delegation joined in voting for withdrawal of this expression.

FINALLY, there was to be a reference to labor. The words "free democratic labor" were struck from the final declaration, mostly at the insistence of the pro-Castro bloc. The U.S. delegation just let it go by. They did not fight for it.

The labor men reported this back to their national headquarters in Washington — where this was quietly called appeasement. The responsibility is being heaped squarely on Adlai Stevenson's influence.

All is quiet on this front for the moment. But this feud will be a loud one shortly. If not in public, then inside the White House.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 15 and my boy friend is 16. He went to Europe with his folks and was gone six weeks. His letters were simply wonderful, especially the parts where he said he missed me very much.

He got back yesterday and of course I was dying to see what he brought me in the way of a gift. Well, he handed me a paper sack and guess what was in it — a lump of dirt from Ireland.

We are both Irish but I think this is a pretty poor excuse for a present. I'm anxious to let him know how I feel but my mother says to control my temper and say nothing. What do you advise? —LET DOWN.

Dear Let Down: What were you expecting — a car? Say nothing about your disappointment. After all, a daughter of Erin should be mighty proud to own some of the "ould sod." And I must say the kid is plenty smart. This is REALLY something you can pick up at the last minute!

Taxi Widow

Dear Ann: I know you are a practical woman who looks at all angles. Please give me some help.

My husband and I were divorced because I told him to choose between me and his 15-hour-a-day taxi job. He chose the taxi. He asked if he could continue to live in the house and pay room and board, and take the kids out every Sunday, as always. I agreed.

This arrangement has been going on for two years and it has worked out pretty well for all of us. In fact, we get along better now than we ever did. The kids don't realize we are divorced because neither of us has had the heart to tell them.

Last night the big lug suggested we get married again. What do you think? —MYRTLE.

Dear Myrtle: I think it's a shame that some people use a cannon when a peashooter would do the job just as well. Re-marry.

Protective Mother

Dear Ann: My mother is wonderful. She's good natured and understanding. I know how lucky I am when I listen to some of my girl friends talk about THEIR mothers. But I have one gripe which drives me buggy.

She has a habit of repeating things to me which I already know. For example, she'll say, "Don't forget to put water in the ice tray before you put it back."

Or, "Remember to wash the lettuce carefully — vegetable bugs, you know!"

Last night when she knocked on the door to tell me to be sure to pull the bathtub plug I blew up.

Why is she like this? I'm not a baby (I am 16 years old) and no scatterbrain who needs to be told the same thing umty-eleven times. —DARLENE.

Dear Darlene: Your good-natured, understanding, wonderful mother still thinks of you as her little girl. She enjoys instructing you as she did years ago, because those were happy days for her — days when she knew she was needed.

Smile to yourself when she gives orders and don't let it upset your chemistry. Being able to understand and tolerate personality defects is a sign of maturity.

The Sad Truth

By DAVID LAWRENCE

'Non-Aligned' Nations Jolted by Soviet A-Tests

Maybe the 25 so-called non-aligned nations thought they were building up their prestige by their summit conference at Belgrade, Yugoslavia but the truth is they gave the world an example of why double-dealing doesn't pay.

This group of nations can hardly be called neutral, for they do take a position on issues which affect them directly.

They cannot truly describe themselves as non-aligned because they have for the most part sought favors, financial and otherwise, from both sides—the East and the West.

The 25 nations sought to give the impression that they are not only against war but have become the chief exponents of all that is good and virtuous in international relations.

The sad fact is, however, that when the Soviet Union broke faith with the world and abandoned its pledges that it would not resume nuclear tests unless the West did so first, the voices of protest from the non-aligned group were soft and almost inaudible.

It was indeed proof that they were aligned with the Soviets for they failed to denounce the steps taken by Moscow—three nuclear tests in the air—during the very time the non-aligned nations were actually in conference at Belgrade.

Former President Truman, who is by no means inarticulate on these matters, put it this way:

"The only thing that pleases me is the jolt the nationalists got. They got what's coming to them. They ought to take sides with the free world if they're going to survive."

"They're free now because we made them free. The Russians didn't do that."

"All the satellites they (the Russians) took after World War II are slave states now. You name one that isn't."

The conference of the non-aligned was, however, a useful event in one respect. It exposed the hypocrisy of the uncommitted nations.

They are uncommitted primarily because they want to derive benefits from both sides—the East and the West. But when the subsidies and donations and grants are added up, it will be found that these nations got many times more from the United States and its allies than from the Russians.

THE IMPRESSION made here by the Belgrade Conference is a painful one. Officials in Washington were shocked to note that, in the resolutions adopted, there was no denunciation of the Soviets for resuming nuclear tests in the air.

Despite all the talk by Nehru of India about the importance of preserving peace, he himself was restrained in his comments.

The mission of President Sukarno of Indonesia and President Keita of Mali, in coming to Washington on a special trip to persuade President Kennedy to negotiate with Khrushchev at a summit conference, is something of an anticlimax.

Here was a group of nations which profess to be against war and especially against colonialism. Yet they fail to stand up to the biggest practitioner of colonialism in the modern world—the Soviet Union.

If ever a moral issue has presented itself to challenge the peace-loving elements of the whole world, it is in the Berlin issue—especially in the fate of the people of the divided sectors of Germany.

Despite all the pious words about "liquidating colonialism wherever it exists," not a word was spoken or written at the Belgrade Conference in favor of liberating the East German people from the colonial yoke imposed upon them by Moscow.

Also, despite all the many words denouncing nuclear tests, the action of the Soviet government in resuming such tests in the atmosphere was glossed over.

The conclusion is inescapable that most of the so-called non-aligned nations are not idealistic but materialistic, that they will play the West against the East and vice versa in order to get funds.

As between right and wrong, there can be no neutrality. Countries like Sweden and Switzerland, which shunned the Belgrade Conference, are neutral, too, but only in the sense that they stay out of international disputes on the political front.

Their newspapers, however, are far from neutral, and the sharpest denunciation of Khrushchev's policy in resuming nuclear tests in the air has come from Swedish and Swiss newspapers.

The non-aligned may have thought they would gain prestige by the Belgrade Conference. In truth, they have lost the respect of many other governments for most of the group of "non-aligned" now are considered "aligned" with the position of Moscow, though professing not to accept its doctrines.

The Belgrade group seems to be willing to equate the evils of aggression—as evidenced in the Berlin issue—with the heroic efforts of the West to preserve peace and save the non-aligned nations themselves from being enslaved.

From Our Readers

Case of the Old Soldiers

I recently read that by a ruling of the Comptroller General on June 22, 1960 that "Time spent in the military when you are under age cannot be counted toward retirement pay." The ruling was B-142704.

What is the matter? Don't the old boys count anymore? So what if they did volunteer when they were a few years under the required age. They still ran the same risks that the older ones ran, ate the same food and suffered the same hardships. How stupid can our elected and appointed officials get?

Take the case of J. T. Kerrigan of Brooklyn, N.Y. There are numerous others in the same predicament but he will serve as an example.

In 1917, Kerrigan couldn't wait to serve his country, so he volunteered. He was 16 years, 11 months old but gave his age as 18.

Marshall Petain awarded him the Croix de Guerre at Sedan—before Kerrigan was 18. In May, 1919, Col. "Wild Bill" Donovan sen. Kerrigan a commendation "for your exceptionally good work your coolness under fire and your devotion to duty."

Came another war. In 1942, Kerrigan, now a N.Y. police sergeant, again put in for duty. This time he gave his right age—42. A little older but just as anxious to serve his country as when he was younger. He served in Africa, Italy, France and Germany with the 101st Military Government.

The Army wanted some of the fellows to stay on and Kerrigan did. After 11 months of duty in Korea, he was separated in June, 1947. Then the Army asked Kerrigan to keep ready in the Reserves.

With 20 years of combined active reserve duty and active wartime duty, you get retirement pay when you are eased out at age 60. Kerrigan counted the years and sure enough would have his 20 years in at age 60. So he stayed in the active Reserves another 13 years.

Last July he was 60 and they eased him out, with honor. He applied for retirement pay, but he didn't get it.

Kerrigan was turned down because he could not count the 13 months when he earned the Croix de Guerre in World War I—before he was 18 years old. Instead of having 3 months more than the 20 years, he was 10 months short when he was compelled to retire.

The question now is, what are we, the people, going to do about it? Simple justice for Kerrigan means simple justice for numerous others who are in the same predicament.

I believe every individual can help by writing their congressman to have Ruling B-142704 amended.

Mahoning County Jr. Leadership State Representative Thomas P. Gilmartin spoke on "Ohio Legislature" at the Tuesday meeting of the Mahoning County Junior Leadership 4-H Club at the Canfield Fairgrounds.

Other guests at the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hammett, chairman of the junior fair committee of the senior Fair Board; Mrs. Grace Williams, executive secretary of the Fair Board; R. E. Withers, president of the 4-H Advisory Council; Darrel Bacon, representative to the State 4-H Advisory Council; Mrs. Garland Crumbacher, secretary of the county extension advisory committee, and Mr. Crumbacher; Richard Skinner, marketing agent for Cooperative Extension Service, and Mrs. Skinner; and William B. Phillips, county agricultural agent, and Mrs. Phillips.

Carol Percie, Patti Capel, Dora Mae Chambers, Barbara Fry, Susan Less, Barbara Wehr, Charles Withers, Richard Gray, Ken Smith and Lynn Baker were selected as delegates to the Ohio 4-H Club Congress.

A chicken barbecue was enjoyed by the 65 members and guests following the meeting.

A joint meeting with the Columbiana County Junior Leadership 4-H Club was planned for Oct. 2 at Canfield School.

The "Vinegar Bible" was so named because of a misprint. In the parable of the vineyard, the word "vinegar" was substituted for "vineyard."

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Could Pets Be Fifth Column Agents?

Q—Thank you for your directions for ridding humans of lice with (Kwell) shampoo. But how in the world do you get mites out of upholstered furniture, rugs etc? I've used all sorts of sprays systematically once a month for months and I can't seem to get any results.

A—I may be wrong but I think you've misstated the problem.

Dr. H. T. Hyman

Most commercial insecticides are enormously effective. I'm sure you've debugged your furniture, rugs etc. Perhaps what's happening is re-infection by house-hold pets. Next time you spray, include Fido and Tabby. And then just see that they do their relaxing on the kitchen floor instead of on your parlor rugs and furniture.

Q—My teen-age daughter needs plastic surgery for a re-shaping of her nose. Can you furnish me with the name of reliable surgeons in our locality?

A—Write Miss Estelle E. Hillerich, of 4647 Pershing Ave., St. Louis 3, Mo., Corresponding Secretary of the American Board of Plastic Surgery. Give your address and enclose a stamped envelope for the reply.

Q—What objections are there to fluoridation of community water supplies?

A—Writing in the official organ of the Pennsylvania State Department of Health, the Director of Dental Health asserts that the anti-fluoridationists are "an assortment of people ranging from some skeptics to those who just naturally gravitate to opposition groups of all kinds. They are frequently he adds "people who dislike change and always suspect the worst."

In this instance, according to the aforementioned director, Dr. Linwood G. Grace, "the worst" includes a "plot by the communists to gain control of the country"; a "great scheme of the aluminum industry to dispose of one of its waste products at a profit" and/or feeding of "rat poison" to an uninformed public.

Yet the American Medical Association, the American Dental Association, the United States Public Health Service and many state boards of health (none Communist-controlled or affiliates of the aluminum company) all endorse fluoridation. These endorsements have been based on numerous statistical studies the latest of which comes from Corvallis, Ore.

After fluoridation of the municipal water supply for seven years, "dental caries of the permanent and primary teeth (of school children) was markedly reduced as compared with the incidence prevailing among children of the corresponding age before water fluoridation." There was also a "marked reduction in the numbers of decayed and missing teeth," state Drs. Tanks and Storvick writing in the Journal of Pediatrics.

No harmful effects of fluoridation were noted.

Dear Reader: Dr. Hyman appreciates your comments and questions but regrets that the heavy volume of his mail doesn't permit him to answer each individual letter or post card. However, he will comment in columns like the above upon matters of general or unusual interest.

Deaths, Funerals

Harvey Good

COLUMBIANA — Harvey Good, 84, of Renkenberger Road, RD 1, Columbiana, died of a stroke at 11 p.m. Thursday at his home, following a six-month illness.

Born April 23, 1877, in Beaver Township, he was the son of Samuel and Lydia Lehman Good. On Sept. 2, 1913, he married Carrie Calvin, who survives.

A farmer, he was a life resident of this area.

He was a member of the Pleasantview Mennonite Church.

Besides his wife, he leaves a sister, Ina Lizzie Good at home.

Services will be held Sunday at 2:30 p.m. at Pleasantview Church. Israel Snyder and David Weaver will officiate, with burial in the church cemetery.

Friends may call at the family residence after 2 p.m. Saturday.

Mr. Good's favorite charity was the building fund of the church.

sidered an aggressive act for which the Soviet government would be held responsible. It also rejected Moscow's charges that troublemakers were being flown into West Berlin.

The air corridors have been in operation since the end of World War II. Commercial flights now average about 36,000 a year in and out of West Berlin. The flights originate in West Germany or West Berlin beyond the control of East German officials.

Search Continues For Theft Suspect

CLEVELAND (AP)—Small Business Administration investigators and FBI agents today continued their search for a Cleveland mortgage dealer who left for Europe with his family Aug. 16.

The dealer, Mervin L. Gold, 31, is believed to be in Naples, Italy, with his wife and two small daughters.

The SBA said its investigation involved $150,000 the Cosmopolitan Small Business Investment Co., Inc., obtained from the agency last March. SBA officials said Gold promoted the company and allegedly took all its assets with him when he left. Among the officers listed was David Weinberg of Canton.

Cleveland FBI Chief Edward E. Hargett said Gold is sought in connection with $55,000 in Canadian bonds he used as collateral for two $20,000 loans at two different Cleveland banks. The FBI said the bonds were allegedly stolen from a Canadian bank.

Four Held In Money Order Forgery Ring

AKRON, Ohio (AP)—Four men were in custody today in connection with what police described as a money order forgery ring that may have netted up to $5,000 from northeastern Ohio merchants.

Police said the four have been linked to two forged money orders totaling $170 that were passed in Warren. They have not been charged.

The Ohio Highway Patrol early Thursday apprehended three men, two of them Clevelanders, at a roadblock on Ohio 8 north of here. The fourth was arrested later in his Lorain home.

Roadblocks were set up after the three men tried to pass a $79 forged money order at an Akron radio shop, police said.

Police said merchandise found in the car was traced to two Warren stores, where the items and $98 in change were received for two phony money orders.

Stolen blank money-order forms and a check writing device were used in the operation, police said.

Nursing Home Plans Pushed At E. Palestine

EAST PALESTINE — About 40 citizens held the second public meeting at the City Hall last night and agreed to incorporate under the name of East Palestine Nursing and Rest Home, Inc. Dr. J. C. Hartford is acting chairman for the committee.

The group decided to proceed with plans for the purchase of the city owned tract of land at the southwest corner of the city near the park.

The building costs will run close to $100,000 and it will cost approximately $50,000 to operate each year. They are seeking the support of the civic organizations, clubs and lodges.

BOY BITTEN BY DOG

James Howard of 160 S. Lincoln Ave. reported to police at 8 p.m. Thursday that his son James, age 7, was bitten by a dog while playing at 840 E. Pershing St. The boy was treated at Central Clinic and released. The owner of the dog, Jim Grate, 840 E. Pershing St., was told by police to keep the dog under observation.

Charter

are underestimating the intelligence of the voters of Salem. The four-year term for mayor is the last and only area left where we can hope for improvement.

"We are reaching the point where we will be giving the public an empty bag and telling them to like it because it is necessary."

"How are we going to go out and sell this charter to the public?" Aldom asked. "What are we going to tell them when they ask us what the charter will do as far as improving the city of Salem?"

Other members said that even if all the city gets out of the charter is home rule, this will be an accomplishment and will provide the community with something to build upon later.

Rance remarked that under home rule "the city would at least have the right to change the charter and that's something we can't do now with the state law."

Kendall Withholds Vote

Bryce Kendall, who did not vote on the mayor's term issue last night, said that in his opinion, getting the charter passed is more important than any of the individual items in it. He did say, however, that he would have preferred to have seen City Council members and the Council president be given terms of the same duration, whether they be two years or four.

Kendall said he believed drawing up a charter the voters will accept is more important than putting everything in the charter that individual Commission members think should be there.

Aldom indicated that in his opinion, the numerous compromises that have been made have taken away the charter's selling points rather than eliminated the objectionable items.

When Aldom said he thought some of the commission members had political motivations in supporting a two-year term, Rance commented, "If we keep saying others on this commission have ulterior motives, we are going to defeat the charter right here in this room."

"How are we going to sell it anyway," Aldom asked, "if three of our members go out and say they won't sign it?" Aldom apparently was referring to Michael Schuller, Carl Abe and Fred Koenreich, all of whom were absent last night. All three have indicated that they might not sign the charter because of sections they don't agree with.

John Herman remarked, "People have been talking about the Commission saying we can't decide this and we can't decide that. I myself am going to abide by the majority. Why did the others come on in the first place if they aren't willing to abide by the majority."

Next Public Hearing Thursday

Another meeting of the Charter Commission has been set for 7:30 p.m. Monday at which time copies of the charter will be presented to Commission members for their signatures.

Next Thursday at 7:30 p.m., a second public meeting to acquaint interested citizens with provisions of the proposed charter has been scheduled at the Memorial Building.

All suggestions made by citizens at the first public meeting on Aug. 28 were taken up by the Commission last night.

One suggestion, which was approved, dealt with the publication of ordinances. All ordinances passed by Council would continue to be published in a newspaper of general circulation in the municipality. However, they would be published only once instead of twice as required under the present form of government.

At the request of civil defense authorities, a list showing the succession to the office of mayor was expanded. The order of succession under the proposed charter would be as follows: mayor, president of council, president pro tempore, Director of law, director of finance and director of public service.

Added to the charter last night was a section providing for a central purchasing agency for the city.

Other items discussed but left unchanged included several suggestions which would have trimmed the mayor's appointment power administrative officers and boards and commissions.

nounced that the United States is resuming tests in the laboratory and underground without the consequences of dangerous fallout that accompany tests in the atmosphere.

Plainly indicating that Moscow will say no to the proposal to stop atmospheric tests, Khrushchev said: "The Western proposal to stop tests in the atmosphere is merely a propaganda move designed to deceive public opinion."

He also said it was unrealistic to ask the Soviet Union to stop tests while France is free to do so.

Integration Peaceful at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La. (AP)—The second year of court-ordered token public school desegregation came quietly and peacefully to this Southern city of 627,000 Thursday.

School officials forecast an increase in white attendance at the six desegregated elementary schools today despite continued pleas from segregationists for a boycott of the classrooms.

Police Supt. Joseph I. Giarruso planned to keep some 60 uniformed officers at each school—sealed off from the general public for one block in all directions.

Eight Negro children started classes with white pupils bringing to 12 the number of Negroes in desegregated school. Four Negro first graders last Nov. 14 became the first members of their race to attend all-white schools in New Orleans. They were back at two schools this year as second grade students.

The white boycott of McDonogh No. 19—which lasted throughout last year—was cracked as four white children joined five Negroes. White attendance at the other schools ranged from more than two-thirds of normal to 17 out of 571 at Frantz—one of the schools desegregated last year.

the present state of international tension.

Bourguiba flew home Wednesday from the Belgrade, Yugoslavia, conference of nonaligned nations as tension mounted in Bizerte, scene of heavy fighting this summer when Tunisia tried to force out the French and they fought back. A new clash Tuesday left four Tunisians dead and 42 wounded.

Bourguiba said today he is also willing to negotiate with France the Tunisian claims to a portion of the Sahara.

In a major move to ease the tension, the Tunisian leader announced a prisoner exchange will take place Saturday and "Frenchmen held in concentration camps will be liberated after accords have been signed."

"We will also envisage measures of pardon for those Frenchmen held in jail on criminal charges," Bourguiba said.

Glenmoor Boy Fined For Cruelty to Dogs

LISBON — A 14-year-old Glenmoor youth was fined $15 Thursday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for cruelty to 10 puppies which his father told him to get rid of.

The youth said he struck the dogs with a shovel and then buried them in shale. Neighborhood children heard the whines and dug up the dogs, eight of which were still alive.

Their parents filed a complaint with the county dog warden's office, and Deputy W. J. McCall cited the youth. His father was reprimanded by the judge.

BURGLARY ATTEMPT MADE

Homer Haldeman of 905 Newgarden Ave. reported to police Thursday afternoon that someone attempted to pry open the back door to his home sometime between 2 and 4:30 p.m. Nothing was reported missing.

FINED FOR ASSAULT

James Conley, 29, of 577 Columbia St., was fined $10 and costs by Mayor Dean Cranmer this morning on a charge of assault and battery. The charge was filed by Dale Whipkey, arising out of a scuffle the two men had on State St. Thursday night.

KHRUSHCHEV'S 100-MEG

When the Russians speak of 100-megaton bombs, this is what they mean. Center circle with white cross indicating "ground zero," symbolizes the Hiroshima bomb dropped during World War II. Its fireball covered 800 feet from center point in all directions. Radius of the 15-megaton bomb, now the largest, would be two miles. Diagram compares the radius of the two with that of the proposed Russian bomb, estimated at five miles from center to outside margin of fireball. Fallout from the big bomb could cover 140,000 square miles.

Driver Cited In Crash Near Alliance

One driver was cited by highway patrolmen in each of two minor traffic accidents occurring on area highways Thursday.

Rt. 62, one-quarter of a mile east of Alliance, was the scene of a car-truck mishap at 3 p.m. where Angelo Ranieri, 71, of Alliance, attempted to make a right hand turn from the inside lane with his westbound car, causing his auto to collide with a truck trailer in the outside lane operated by Harold J. Adams, 27, of Lisbon.

The truck received considerable damage, while the auto was damaged slightly, the Patrol reported. Ranieri was cited for an improper right hand turn.

In the other mishap, Tom Trevor, 70, of East Liverpool, was cited for failure to yield the right of way following a two-car accident at the intersection of Rt. 170 and County Road 428, at 8:10 p.m.

Patrolmen said Trevor pulled his auto out of the county road as James R. Schamp, 41, of Lisbon, was making a left turn onto the road from Rt. 170, causing a collision between the two vehicles.

Both cars received minor damage.

TO FACE GRAND JURY

LISBON — The contributing charge against Rosella Hofman of Wellsville was turned over to the prosecutor's office Thursday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for consideration by the September Grand Jury.

At a prior hearing on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of her 16-year-old adopted son, Judge Tobin withheld his ruling and requested that Mrs. Hofman and the youth take lie detector tests in Youngstown.

FORFEITS TRAFFIC BOND

Walter Lee Miller, 43, of Glen Bernie, Md., forfeited $14 in Mayor Dean Cranmer's court this morning on a charge of "running" a red light at the intersection of Pershing St. and S. Lincoln Ave. Miller had been cited by highway patrolmen.

HELD IN COUNTY JAIL

LISBON — Hayward Goldsmith, 42, of East Liverpool is in county jail in lieu of $500 bond after he was charged with contributing to the delinquency of a 17-year-old East Liverpool girl. The charge was filed by his wife, Goldsmith pleaded not guilty before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin. Hearing was set for Sept. 18.

Charles Duessing of Akron, a federal conciliator, sat in on this fourth bargaining meeting last night.

The union was represented by Park Grim, president of the UMW-VA local, and Thomas Dunn of Pittsburgh, regional representative. The union pledged its full cooperation to help the firm overcome its financial difficulties stemming from southern competition.

President Maurer said the company faces three alternatives: Liquidation, the outright sale of the plant, or a move to another location.

McBride Elected By Lisbon Kiwanians

LISBON — County School Supt. James L. McBride was elected president Thursday by the Kiwanis Club at its luncheon meeting. He succeeds O. Dale Mason.

Other officers elected are Courtney Pennell, first vice president, and Atty. John Beck, second vice president. Directors named for two-year terms are Dr. Pete Cibula, Dr. Julian Jones, Rev. William Spangler, Cornell Monda and Dr. Ed Toolis.

The officers and directors will be installed at the first meeting in January.

FINED AT E. PALESTINE

EAST PALESTINE — Appearing in Judge Herbert Arfman's court yesterday were:

Susan M. Horn of RD 5, Lisbon, fined $15 and costs for left of center.

Merle Gotthardt of New Waterford, fined $65 for truck overload.

Jack G. Laughlin of RD 1, Rogers, fined $10 and cost for failure to stop in the assured clear distance.

Harry Juniper of Hendersonville, N.C., forfeited a $25 bond after being charged with failure to stop for a school bus discharging passengers in St. Clair Township.

Township Officials Enjoy Steak Dinner

The Columbiana County Association of Township Trustees and Clerks held its annual steak dinner Thursday evening at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Leetonia, with 66 members and guests present.

Guest speaker was Rev. William Woodall, pastor of the Leetonia Presbyterian Church. His subject was "Operation Starvation."

fice two years ago to use his power (under existing PUCO regulation 22305) to pull telephone and wire ticker service from suspected gambling spots and known holders of federal gambling stamps throughout Ohio.

"My office previously did this in Stark County," McElroy has taken no such action throughout Ohio. Instead, there is a flurry of publicity such as his attack on your bureau Thursday causing the public to forget he has the power."

The attorney general last year conducted an investigation in Stark County.

Putman said McElroy came into the county two months after local authorities had pulled out telephone and wire service used by gamblers. He charged that state officials acted only to cover up for their embarrassment at failing to take the action Putman had recommended.

He said the state investigation brought only one conviction on a felony charge and that later was reversed, that there were four guilty pleas on misdemeanor charges, resulting in a total of $300 fines. Five persons were indicted for owning property on which gambling operations were conducted, but none of the five owned any of the property involved, Putman said.

"This was the result of $100,000 and nine months of investigation," he declared.

on the job. Reuther blamed the strikes on confusion and misunderstanding. He said workers at Mansfield and Marion had ended their strikes.

The walkouts followed the announcement Wednesday of agreement on a national economic package contingent on settlement of non-economic problems at both the corporation and plant level. Some of the strikers complained of a lack of progress in negotiations on local issues.

Reuther said GM hourly workers are giving up three cents hourly this year to help pay for expanded benefits but he called it "a very fine arrangement" because he said they will get a net pay increase of 12.04 cents an hour.

General Motors will improve pensions from a maximum of $2.50 to $2.80 per month for each year of service and pay one-half the cost of hospital-medical benefits for pensioners and their wives. To help pay for this, the workers will give up a one-cent cost-of-living allowance due this month.

Workers also will give up for a year two cents of an annual improvement factor which raises wages an average of seven cents an hour. Reuther said the workers traded the two cents for 6.7 cents per hour to cover the full cost of improved hospital-medical coverage. The workers have been paying half the cost. Reuther said the workers also would gain on income tax adjustments with the company taking over the full cost of medical care premiums.

he would be "very happy to do whatever is possible."

A spokesman for Kennedy said the U.S. attorney general had no comment about McElroy's criticism of the FBI and that the subject was not broached in their meeting.

In Ohio, Ed Mason, special agent in charge of the Cincinnati FBI office, called The Associated Press bureau in Columbus Thursday night and asked that McElroy's statement be read to him. But Mason offered no comment on the statement.

McElroy told newsmen of recent Ohio efforts to cope with racketeers doing business estimated at $150 million a year in illegal horse race betting and $125 million in numbers bets. He said police officials had offered these figures as "conservative, rock-bottom estimates."

He added that such highly organized crime could be fought most effectively through a combination of "tough legislation on the federal level affecting interstate operations, plus tough legislation on the state level affecting intrastate operations, plus the factor of good law enforcement."

Plat Is Approved By Commissioners

LISBON — Columbiana County commissioners Thursday approved a plat—Fitzsimmons first addition in northeast part of Section 21 of St. Clair Township. The plat has 10 lots with several right-of-ways.

Commissioners also approved a travel allowance for Mrs. Theda Thorton of North Georgetown, County TB nurse, to take a TB patient to Oak Ridge Sanitarium at Green Springs, Ottawa County. Columbiana County will be reimbursed for the trip as the patient is from Ottawa County.

The city of East Liverpool was paid $45.50 for 91 dogs destroyed there during August.

The commissioners' next meeting will be Monday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Maris Raps 55th, Five Short of Mark

Slugger 7 Home Runs Ahead of Ruth's Pace

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Never were Roger Maris' chances of breaking Babe Ruth's home run record brighter than today.

The Yankee slugger smashed another four-bagger Thursday night in New York's 7-3 triumph over Cleveland to increase his season output to 55, only five shy of the mark Ruth set with the Yankees of 1927. He is seven games ahead of the Babe's record pace.

It seems no longer a question as to whether the left-handed half of the Mantle-Maris socking duo will break the homer record, but how soon?

Maris remains firm in his refusal to discuss the possibilities, but even Mantle and manager Ralph Houk acknowledged Rog's chances were "excellent."

Houk, in fact, hinted broadly that Maris might even do it before the Indians leave town Sunday night. Before the game, that became the Yankees' eighth triumph in a row, Houk said: "I would have to say Rog's chances are excellent. He may not hit any homers tonight because they're using a left-hander (Dick Stigman), but he should be able to hit a few off the right-handers Dykes (Cleveland Manager Jimmy Dykes) will throw at us in the remaining four games.

Clobbers Tribe Pitching
"Undoubtedly, we'll see Bell, Perry, Grant and Latman, Maris and Mantle, too, hit the stuffings out of those guys."

Houk was wrong about Stigman (Maris socked him for a home run and two singles in three times at bat) but the records bear the manager out regarding the others. Maris has slugged Perry for three home runs and Bell for two. He's faced Grant twice and Latman only once this year, not hitting any off either.

Mantle's best Thursday was a two-bagger in four times at bat but in the first inning Willie Kirkland caught his drive with his back against the right-field barrier. He has 51 homers.

Hits Curve Ball
Maris got his homer in the third inning. He hit Stigman's second pitch, a curve ball after the southpaw had brushed him back with a high inside fast ball. In the first inning, after Tony Kubek tripled, Maris surprised everyone in the park by bunting. The Indians were so astonished that Rog was able to beat it out, Kubek scoring easily.

"I guess this ought to prove to everyone that Maris, as well as Mantle, are out there primarily to win ball games, not to break home run records," said Houk.

The four Cleveland right-handers Houk spoke of have been clipped for the astonishing total of 100 home runs this season. Perry had yielded 28, Bell 27, Grant 25 and Latman 20.

Grant will start tonight, against Bill Stafford.

Tito Francona's three-run inside-the-park homer to tie the score in the sixth Thursday night was drilled between Mantle and Hector Lopez and rolled to the wall in left-center 457 feet from home plate.

Aside from that, Indian nemesis Ralph Terry's pitching was invincible.

Stanford Grid Prospects Praised

STANFORD, Calif. (AP)—First returns from Stanford's nationwide football recruiting program for brawn with brains show up this fall.

Nine sophomores are from out of state with one, Frank Dubofsky, a 218-pound guard from Washington, D.C., listed as a starter. The widespread recruiting went into effect to find outstanding athletes who can meet Stanford's high scholastic requirements.

"This is the best group of sophomores since I've been here," says Coach Jack Curtice, starting his fourth season at Stanford.

The Indians, who lost all 10 of their games last year, have only 18 returning veterans.

Stanford opens the season Sept. 23 against Tulane here.

Robbys' Knoll Holds Field Day Saturday

Robbys' Knoll Golf Course will hold its final field day of the year Saturday.

Free golf all day for league members and sponsors will be on tap. A free buffet will be held from 11 a.m. to 4 p.m., and a corn roast and steak fry will begin at 7 p.m.

The following golfing contests will be held in addition to regular play: putting, closest to pin on number 2, longest putt, longest drive, low net score and low gross score.

Many door prizes will be offered throughout the day. Trophies will be awarded at 9 p.m., to be followed by the election of officers of next year's league.

A charge of $1 will be asked of team members for the days activities. There will be no charge for sponsors.

Painter, who was one of the Bears' tri-captains this year, re-injured the leg while running wild sprints in grid practice recently. The leg had been injured originally during basketball season last year.

Head Coach Ike Farrah of Leetonia will also be plagued with the possibility of three other doubtful starters tonight when his team takes the field at Beaver Local in the season opener.

Also suffering knee injuries are halfback Rich Troy and end-halfback Guy Falsetta. Guard Roger McElroy may not make it due to an elbow injury.

QUAKER PASS CATCHERS — Expected to snag the passes of quarterback Bill Beery tonight are these six Salem end prospects. In the front row, l. to r., are George Esterly, Bob Hasson and Roger Steele. In the rear are Marlin Waller, Brian Houger and Gary Edwards. Steele, although he is adept at an end position, may start at the right guard position in a late move by Coach Blaine Morton. Another end not pictured above is John Panzoff, who will start at the left end position. Game time is 8 p.m. at Reilly Stadium.

Dave Hill Leads Field In Denver Open

DENVER (AP) — Dave Hill, an up-and-down youngster on the circuit, came home to Denver Thursday and shot an 8-under par 32-31—63 that was good for a two-stroke lead in the first round of the $30,000 Denver Open Golf Tournament.

The 24-year-old transplanted Jackson, Mich., swinger carded six birdies and an eagle over the 6,843-yard Meadow Hills course.

Trailing Hill was Bob Rosburg of Portland, Ore., with a 34-31—65. Four players were bunched behind him with 66s, and seven others had 67s.

First-round leaders:
Dave Hill 32-31—63
Bob Rosburg 34-31—65
Rod Funset 34-32—66
Al Balding 34-32—66

Ohio State Gridders Practice Punting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's football Buckeyes worked on punting Thursday for the first time since practice opened five days ago, and a few of them switched positions.

Bob Klein was moved from right half to left half to get experience at the latter post. Paul Warfield of Warren, the first string left half, was on limited duty because of a slight muscle pull in his leg.

Left guard Tom Jenkins of Dayton was dropped back to the third unit, and his place on the first string was taken by Larry Stephens of Coshocton.

Laver Blasts Way Into Quarter-Final

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (AP) — Rod Laver, the overwhelming choice to win the National Tennis championship, admitted today he had talked greenbacks with professional czar Jack Kramer.

"But," said the Australian left-hander, "my plans are indefinite after the Davis Cup challenge round. I'll definitely remain an amateur until then."

"After that, I don't know. I wouldn't want to say one thing and mean another."

This, indeed, has been Laver's year. He has only one black mark against him. That is loss to cup mate Roy Emerson in the final of the Australian championships. But he partially atoned for that by winning Wimbledon.

Laver blasted his way into the quarter-final round Thursday with a 6-3, 6-4, 6-3 decision over Chris Crawford of Piedmont, Calif. His opponent today is Don Dell of Bethesda, Md., who downed John Sharpe of Edinburg, Tex., 7-9, 6-3, 6-2, 8-6.

Rafael Osuna, 22, Mexican Davis cupper, also pulled into the quarters by upsetting Bob Mark of Australia, 6-3, 6-4, 8-6.

Britain's Mike Sangster was leading Mexican champion Antonio Palafox, 21-19, 8-7 when darkness fell over the West Side Tennis Club.

In the women's division, defending champion Darlene Hard, seeded No. 1, gained the semifinal with a 6-3, 6-1 triumph over Yola Ramirez of Mexico. Margaret Smith of Australia, seeded No. 5, eliminated Christine Truman of Britain, 8-10, 6-4, 6-3 in another match that advanced the winner to the semifinals.

Frank Howard has been head football coach at Clemson for 21 years. His teams have won 121, lost 74 and tied 10.

Steeler-Bear Clash to Draw 40,000 Fans

By The Associated Press

A crowd of 40,000 will watch Coaches Buddy Parker of the Pittsburgh Steelers and George Halas of the Chicago Bears match wits tonight in Chicago's Soldier Field in an effort to give their respective teams a winning National Football League exhibition season.

The Steelers-Bears clash is the 16th annual Armed Forces Benefit game and will be the closing exhibition contest for both clubs.

Pittsburgh and Chicago enter tonight's tilt with 2-2 NFL records and the memory of a 21-21 deadlock in the same Armed Forces scrap last year.

No other games are on the schedule tonight, but all the remaining 14 clubs wind up their exhibition campaigns either Saturday night or Sunday. The regular season begins Sept. 17.

In Saturday games, Washington plays Green Bay at Columbus, Ga.; Philadelphia meets St. Louis at Hershey, Pa.; San Francisco plays Dallas at Sacramento, Calif.; and Detroit is at Cleveland.

Sunday, Los Angeles plays the Minnesota Vikings at St. Paul; Minneapolis; and New York meets Baltimore at the Yale Bowl in New Haven.

40,000 Expected To Watch Browns, Lions Saturday

CLEVELAND (AP)—Some 40,000 fans are expected at Municipal Stadium Saturday night for the rematch between the Cleveland Browns and the Detroit Lions. The Browns have won three games since they lost their first exhibition contest to the Lions in Detroit.

This will be the last preseason game for both National Football League clubs and both coaches will go with the offensive and defensive units expected to start in their season openers Sept. 17.

The Browns will open against the champion Philadelphia Eagles, while the Lions take on the Green Bay Packers, who won the NFL's Western Division title last year.

"This is the time to put the pieces together," said Cleveland coach Paul Brown Thursday night.

"There will be no attempt to reach any emotional peak for this one. That's coming next week for the Eagles, we hope. We want a hard-hitting, all-out effort, though."

Leetonia Loses Painter For Season

Eric Painter, senior end on the Leetonia Bears' football team, was lost to the team for the season when an operation on his right knee Thursday revealed torn cartilage.

Painter, who was one of the Bears' tri-captains this year, re-injured the leg while running wild sprints in grid practice recently. The leg had been injured originally during basketball season last year.

Head Coach Ike Farrah of Leetonia will also be plagued with the possibility of three other doubtful starters tonight when his team takes the field at Beaver Local in the season opener.

Also suffering knee injuries are halfback Rich Troy and end-halfback Guy Falsetta. Guard Roger McElroy may not make it due to an elbow injury.

Conservative In Line For Brazil Prime Minister Post

BRASILIA, Brazil (AP) — A balding businessman with conservative political tendencies was in line today for the post of prime minister, the man who will wield the power in Brazil's government.

Tancredo Neves, 51, was approved for the post by his party, the Social Democrats, who control Congress with the right-center National Democratic Union in a bloc of 200 votes.

President Joao Goulart, wealthy rancher and key figure in the 14-day crisis that began with the resignation of President Janio Quadros, made the official choice with an eye cocked on the political makeup of Congress.

When Quadros quit, making the vice president heir to the presidency, the office was stripped of virtually all power by Congress, acting under pressure from military leaders who regard Goulart as a dangerous leftist.

Goulart took the oath of office Thursday, promising that "all public freedom will be assured."

Even though Goulart, the professed champion of Brazil's working man, cannot issue a decree unless it is signed by the prime minister and another member of the government, he quickly joined the political scramble for what ever power was at stake in the makeup of Neves' cabinet.

Neves has indicated he may order a switch in the foreign policy decreed by Quadros, who took a sharp turn from Brazil's traditional ties with the United States and coolness toward Communist countries.

"Our foreign policy will represent the pure tradition of Brazil," Neves said, apparently meaning he would go back to cooperating with Washington in international politics.

Judge Tobin Places 4 Boys on Probation

LISBON — Four juvenile youths three from Knox Township and one from Alliance were placed on probation Thursday by Juvenile Court Judge Louis Tobin for two burglaries of the Sleepy Hollow Golf Club in Knox Township.

The judge ordered the two 13-year-old boys and the 15-year old youth to pay $100 each and the 14-year-old to pay $56.54 as restitution for the $356.54 in damages and equipment stolen.

Deputy Howard Gray obtained the confessions from the youths.

How to get up to 30 extra miles per tankful

Shell test drivers add a "fifth wheel" to their cars for precise distance measurement during mileage tests. It helps them record performance to a decimal point.

Here are some tips from Shell's experts on how to get maximum mileage from your car. If you practice these good driving habits — and if you use today's Super Shell, with 9 ingredients for top performance — you may well save a pretty penny on gasoline bills.

SHELL scientists spend much of their working lives figuring out how to get the most mileage out of a gallon of gasoline. Here are some of the things they've learned.

1. Don't race a cold engine. When your engine is cold, it uses up more fuel. You're also in danger of underlubrication. You pay in greater engine wear.

2. Use a light touch on the accelerator. Tromping down on the pedal is an expensive habit. Starting up, it holds your automatic transmission in a lower "gear" longer — makes the engine turn faster, wasting fuel. Under way, uneven pedal pressure is costly, too. Feed just enough fuel to maintain even speed.

3. Drive "ahead of your car." Watch for slowing traffic and red lights as far ahead as you can see. Then coast up to the stopping cars, instead of braking heavily when you get there.

4. Don't let fuel costs creep up at the stop light. If your car "creeps" when idling with the automatic transmission engaged, have your idle speed adjusted. If you drive a stick shift, remember that pumping the accelerator won't change the light. It only uses up gasoline.

5. Don't indulge in jack rabbit starts. Racing starts are fine on race tracks — but the drivers of those cars are lucky to get 6 miles per gallon.

NOTE: Air resistance at high car speed is the biggest single drain on power. It increases approximately as the cube of the vehicle speed. Even fox tails on aerials may cost you gasoline.

6. Check your tire pressure regularly. Under-inflated tires increase friction and cut mileage.

NOTE: Tire pressures build up during a long run. Don't let air out to bring the pressure down — it makes the tires run even hotter. Check cool tires only.

7. Check for dragging brakes. Have your Shell dealer check for wheel drag next time you're in for a lubrication. If brakes drag, you pay for it every mile.

8. Get these fuel-saving adjustments. If spark timing is off, for example, you pay in wasted gasoline — and possibly in engine damage. A compression check can reveal power-wasting valve and ring conditions. Other essentials:

A. Keep your spark plugs at peak efficiency. Use Super Shell gasoline with unique TCP* additive to give them extra life.

B. Adjust carburetor.

C. Have automatic choke checked.
D. Clean or replace filters for air, fuel, oil as manufacturer recommends.
E. Tighten fuel line connections.
F. Have automatic transmission or clutch checked regularly.

9. Get regular oil changes and lubrication — including transmission and differential. Your Shell dealer knows what to do. And he has the finest equipment and lubricants. Your car will last longer. Your gasoline will go farther.

10. Show this advertisement to everyone who drives your car — especially if you pay their gasoline bills. We can't guarantee 30 extra miles per tankful — but the closer these suggestions are followed the better your mileage will be. To start off right, fill up with today's Super Shell. Its nine ingredients mean top performance.

Super Shell's 9 ingredients for top performance

- #1 is TCP for power and longer plug life.
- #2 is Pentane mix for fast warm-ups.
- #3 is anti-knock mix to resist all knocks.
- #4 is Alkylate to control "high-speed knock."
- #5 is Butane for quick starts.
- #6 is "cat-cracked" gasoline — for power.
- #7 is "anti-icer" — added in cold weather.
- #8 is gum preventive for clean carburetors.
- #9 is Platformate for extra mileage.

At Shell, 1997 scientists are working to make your car go better and better.

*Trademark for Shell's unique gasoline additive. Gasoline containing TCP is covered by U. S. Patent 2889212.
